PATCH TUTORIAL: REFLECTION (Trainer)

Name: Date of Tutorial:

Thinking back on what has happened on any situation, can help us make more of the learning that can arise. In deed, without some level of reflection – learning – a change in the way we think and act – will not occur.
The patch tutorials are new for us and we want to learn what works and how to improve their value: your feedback is very important to us.

Look back on today.

1. Describe what you did/what happened in this patch tutorial.

2. How was the subject of the tutorial chosen? By whom?

3. How did you feel it went?
   Is there anything that worked particularly well?
   Is there anything that you would change?

4. Has this changed the way you think your teaching? How will it change the way you do or think about things in the future?

5. Has it highlighted any learning needs about teaching for you?

6. Did you find meeting up as a group in this way, helpful or do you think it may become so? Do you have any further suggestions?
